Naples, Fla. – Collier County’s Community and Human Services Division announces the launch of its new “Housing Affordability” website, www.CollierCountyHousing.com. The website is administered by the Housing Operations team. Inside the website, residents or those looking to relocate, will find resources such as housing options and assistance. And, developers/homebuilders looking to provide housing in Collier County will find incentives and grant opportunities to build affordable housing developments. It also offers important information about this critical issue to anyone interested in this topic.

Providing access to affordable housing closer to jobs reduces commute times and costs, increases quality of life and assists in supporting a healthy local economy. That is why the county is working to address the issue in a variety of ways, including the creation of special incentives for developers to provide housing at affordable prices in their plans and offering programs to assist prospective homebuyers and renters. Current examples of communities with housing affordability options include Allura, Bristol Pines and Dockside among others.
